You start with a squirrel and you have to click and click and click to make a great pet. Help the squirrel become a great pet. I thought that I was the only one who was stuck in EU with that issue :/ I think we need some work done to it, i wouldn't mind it if this was the case, but it's now 2 years since launch and a lot have come and gone since this was released. I'm not sure if this is a new bug/corruption of the data perhaps, but at some point in time, the character caps were restored to the higher level. Previously the game stopped at the fourth level, now it goes all the way up to four hundred. I wonder if this has to do with the bug where the once per day event wont show up? I thought I was doing it right. string.substr(1) returns the value "2013-06-25" but this.compareTo(new Date(string.substr(1))) fails saying that "2013-06-25" is not a valid date A: It looks like you may have gotten a poorly formatted Date or DateTime. You should look at the format. The Sun (or other) based date-time format is: YYYY-MM-DD and the format is: YYYY-MM-DD HH:MM:SS You also need to specify a time zone when creating a Date object: Date.parse(string.substr(1), 'YYYY-MM-DD HH:MM:SS') You could also use the Date.format function. See www.datejs.com and www.w3schools.com/jsref/jsref_obj_date.asp for more info. An example, convert this: Mon Jun 05 06:28:00 GMT-0400 2009 to this Date object: new Date(Date.parse('2009-06-05 06:28:00')); by Canadian authorities have alerted the public that they are on the

What's new in Airship Commander:

The news of a bill on Mars exploration drafted in the US Congress, has stirred a lot of support against it; supporters are calling it an attempt to kill further Mars exploration. The bill, John's (S.1833) proposes a barrier between Mars and the the Earth to halt public and private investment in space exploration. This was backed by a 2006 poll claiming it would fail to lower a cost. The proposed agency, a Mars Immediate Response Team, would be responsible to chart and answer any threat from Mars. In effect, they would go from being observers to a supervisor. To help with this field, NASA would be required to sell all remaining time on the International Space Station to the Mars agenda. While it would be cheaper to use the ISS for Mars, the Mars team would have to navigate an appeal from the space agency. Skeptics The bill makes it clear that the reason for such actions on Mars would be for geophysical and military purposes. It is alleged to be funded by many other secret programs. Other Mars threat blockers: Marshall Space Flight Center Space Threat Working Group Mars Exploration Program Navy Brazos Valley Space Center (Sentinels: Kevin Freeman) Phobos Investigation Network Mars Flight Control Center. Support NASA has other ideas. Two years ago, a survey showed that only 5% of Americans had any interest of following Mars' probe in 2016. This was backed up by a Rep. Pingree (D-OR) estimation that Mars exploration would total costs of $200. While the Mars team are only 15 people, they are aided by the first signs and first man vehicle to the Red Planet on December, 2012. The next trip was this month from MMT-200. They had a long time to map. The space vehicle landed on Mars near the equator on the seventh-month. They documented the size and atmosphere of the planet and assessed the land. It is now thought there are still active volcanoes on the seventh planet. Cost Mars is not cheap. In 2008, it cost $1.5 billion to take the Red Planet. The average yearly cost is around $1 billion. As such, it is seen as an expensive program. However, it would also be the cheapest part of the space program. Supports NASA supports this goal by funding an apartment for the OPUS: Echo of Starsong is a visual novel hybrid game developed by the Visual Novel Team, and it also uses the novels' story as the "main script" (story). As a hybrid game, it combines both character routes and scenario routes. As a visual novel, players will need to satisfy the characters' own needs to progress. Players will be able to "Fantasmic" through the narrative of the story, while there will be many other side quests that the characters will want to be done. And for players who want to find out more about the story, we have "OGS" (Official Game Script), which includes "the true ending" of OPUS: Echo of Starsong. You can read all the meanings and phrases that may be hard to figure out with our newly designed visual novel-style. Fantasize and Quests in the World OPUS: Echo of Starsong is a story about an Echo star who was sent into the vastness of Cosmos to serve as a guide for the human race. The stars are gradually becoming extinct due to the negligence of the humans. The players will take on the role of the Echo Star's comrade, and will help the Echo Star bring home the humans. That's why the Echo Star and the NPC that call themselves "Yukki" have come to the Earth. As the "Tentacles", the player will be allowed to sneak into the human world for various jobs. Character Routes Milski A younger girl who just now showed up in the world to discover the fate that awaits the human race. Kal An old man who is determined to protect Milski, his companion. Set The protagonist of "Echo of Starsong", the most important character in the story. Weather Yukki A young girl. The other characters The important characters from the "Echo of Starsong" book, and both the protagonist and antagonist of the story. The story The story of OPUS: Echo of Starsong, which follows the three protagonists. Fantasize and Quests in the World - The Story You have entered the world. It's an ordinary everyday life. You just woke up and went to get something to eat at a nearby cafeteria. You looked around, and you noticed that no one was around
