To bring these elements together, we're making Photoshop, and other Adobe Creative applications, both more powerful and easier to use by empowering our users to explore, work in and discover the world of digital content, making it more relevant, coherent and interactive without sacrificing the strength-to-size of Adobe Creative Suite applications. We believe this will deliver a new era of high-impact creative work that's more accessible and enjoyable. With this transition to newer native APIs, together with the recent reboot of 3D tooling at Adobe featuring the Substance line of 3D products, the time has come to retire Photoshop's legacy 3D feature set, and look to the future of how Photoshop and the Substance products will work together to bring the best of modern 2D and 3D to life across Adobe's products on the more stable native GPU APIs. We are focusing the tools and features of Photoshop on making the tools more powerful, easier to use, and more versatile for a growing world of digital content. PSDV1.0 was developed by looking at the future of the way we work and think about our art - these are the artists and designers of the world of tomorrow. They are electronic musicians, illustrators, mixed-media artists and designers, designers and animators, editors, motion graphic artists, architects, CG creators, programmers, and everyone else who helps design future worlds. The new Photoshop was designed to deliver a universal solution across all major devices: an increase in performance and a set of UI capabilities that make apps portable and useful on different OS and hardware platforms, including tablets, mobile, ultrawides, and desktops.
